

INSPECT CAMP.

Secretary Alger and President McKinley Visit Camp Wikoff.

After a Careful Examination the President Left Camp Satisfied That the Sick Are as Well Cared for as They Could Be in a Field Hospital.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Secretary Alger, who returned late Saturday night from New York after his inspection tour through Camp Wikoff at Mountauk Point with President McKinley and several of the bureau officials of the war department, commented Sunday night upon the conditions of the camp and stated the results of his visit. The secretary said:

"I feel certain, after a careful examination of Camp Wikoff and a thorough investigation of its conditions, that everything possible is being done for the men, both sick and well, who are detained there. The camp is an admirable one—the best, I think, I ever saw. The site is ideal. It is beautiful without being picturesque and is certainly as healthful a camp location as could be found in the eastern country.

"While the conditions are as good as could reasonably be expected in the circumstances—even better than I ever knew them to be in a camp—a shade of gloom is cast over the encampment by the physical condition of the men. Sickness, suffering and death mar what would otherwise be a magnificent military picture. These conditions, however, are not the result of the situation of the camp itself, but of the terrible campaign through which the troops have just passed. That campaign of Santiago will be memorable in the military history of the world. It was wonderful both in its conduct and in the results accomplished. Few military experts expected when the campaign was inaugurated that such a success could be achieved in so short a time. It was a tremendous undertaking to begin a campaign in a tropical country during the rain season against a position naturally so strong and so well defended as was Santiago. That success was achieved so soon and with a loss comparatively so small is due to the energy and ability of Gen. Shafter and his commanding officers and the dash, bravery and splendid fighting qualities of the men of Gen. Shafter's corps.

"The president was particularly solicitous about the condition of the men who are ill. He went to Camp Wikoff to ascertain for himself whether the men in the ranks needed anything they were not getting. His orders were that they should want for nothing, but he desired personally to know whether these orders were being carried out. After several hours of patient investigation and careful examination he left the camp satisfied that the men were as well cared for as they could be in a field hospital. He took no official's word for anything. He had come to the camp to see for himself and his conviction as to the conditions was reached only after he had come in personal contact with those conditions. In the hospitals he went from ward to ward, almost from cot to cot, stopping every few seconds to talk to the sick men and cheer them with a kind expression or a grasp of the hand. It was an experience not soon to be forgotten. Success of the visit as President McKinley made to Camp Wikoff Saturday is almost unique in the military annals. He went to the camp equipped with knowledge, judgment and experience to make an investigation. He had served in the camp and in the field himself and he knew just what ought to be expected in the circumstances. That he was reasonably well satisfied with the conditions as he found them is in itself a guarantee that they are not far wrong.

Found Dead in a Hotel.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 5.—S. Munsch, a well known architect of Pittsburgh, was found dead early Saturday in the toilet room of the American hotel. Deceased had been suffering from heart trouble and this in connection with the intense heat is supposed to have caused his death. Mr. Munsch was 60 years of age. He and two friends, Rev. J. G. Anschler, pastor of the Lutheran church, and Rev. R. Barner, rector of the Kittanning Lutheran church of Allegheny, Pa., were en route to Mt. Clemens, Mich.

Bayard's Condition Critical.

DEPHAM, Mass., Sept. 5.—The condition of Thomas F. Bayard, former ambassador to England, who is at Karlstein, the home of his daughter, Mrs. Warren, was critical Sunday. So pronounced has been the change in the past two or three days that it was thought the patient would not survive any days.

ENCAMPMENT OF THE G. A. R.

Big Attendance of the Veterans at Cincinnati—Commander-in-Chief Welcomed by Soldiers and Citizens.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 6.—The rousing reception of welcome given to Gen. J. P. S. Gobin, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army, by the veterans and the citizens committee Monday morning was one that will long be remembered by that official and his staff of officers, who arrived at the Little Miami depot at 11 o'clock.

Upon arrival there 100 picked Grand Army veterans were lined up in open order, headed by the Fulton Guards band. A handsome carriage, beautifully decorated and drawn by four white horses, conveyed Gen. Gobin from the train to the Grand hotel, where his headquarters have been located. He was saluted by the Grand Army veterans who were standing in open order, and the band played patriotic airs to live up the occasion.

Among the New York delegation are the following from Auburn: Col. R. R. Stillwell, Frederic Cossum, Mr. and Mrs. R. Warren, Dr. W. R. Laird, W. H. Clapp, John Schiller, John Thurer and J. H. Carnes. Frederic Cossum, out of the 32 encampments held, has attended 20.

COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF GOBIN.

Garfield park, now Camp Garfield, has decidedly the appearance of a military camp Monday morning. It is occupied by the Lieut. Jas. M. Lyse Post No. 128, of Allegheny, Pa. There are 30 companies in the post, composed of 25 and 135 Sons of Veterans and friends of the veterans. Lyse post has attended every encampment but one and always carries its own tents and own band.

Hundreds of veterans Monday visited Fort Thomas and were well pleased with the camp.

The 1,100 tents for the use of visiting veterans at Camp Sherman were filling up rapidly Monday morning. A few stragglers from various parts of the country dropped in Sunday. Sunday evening they began to arrive in greater numbers, and Monday morning Capt. Sampson and his assistants in charge of the camp arrangements were kept busy assigning constantly arriving posts to the tents set apart for their use. There is a full corps of attendants for all purposes at the camp, including a hospital staff and tent.

In the afternoon the camp was dedicated with appropriate ceremonies by Commander-in-Chief Gobin. Following was the programme: Official salute on arrival of Commander-in-Chief Gen. Gobin by Camp Sherman gun battery. Music—America. Military band. Prayer, Rev. David H. Moore. Presentation of Camp Sherman to Commander-in-Chief Gen. Gobin by Maj. Jos. W. Wilshire, chairman Citizens' Committee on Camps. Acceptance and formal dedication of Camp Sherman by Gen. J. P. S. Gobin, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic. Raising of flag under charge of Capt. J. R. Sampson, commanding Camp Sherman. Music, Star Spangled Banner.

There is little talk as yet concerning the selection of a place for next year's encampment. It is understood that the strongest bids will be made by Denver and Pittsburgh, while Philadelphia and Kansas City stand ready to catch the plum if it falls their way. Most of the New York delegates favor Richmond, Va.

R. Adm. Kelly and staff, of the naval veterans, arrived at 7:30 a. m., and at 9 o'clock the naval veterans' harbor at Music hall was opened. The naval veterans' convention was opened at Sinton hall, Y. M. C. A. building, at 1 o'clock p. m., and a dog watch and camp fire was held at Music hall Monday evening in honor of the naval veterans and union ex-prisoners.

Entombment of Queen Wilhelmina.

THE HAGUE, Sept. 6.—Queen Wilhelmina and the queen mother started from this city Monday for Amsterdam, where the entombment and coronation will take place. The route from the palace to the railroad depot was filled with immense crowds of people, who gave the young queen an enthusiastic ovation. Her majesty was attired in a white satin gown, over which she wore a white cashmere shawl.

MINE EXPLOSION

A Vessel, While Removing Explosives, Badly Damaged.

A Column of Water Hurlled 50 Feet Into the Air and Debris Blown Several Hundred Feet High—Work to Be Abandoned.

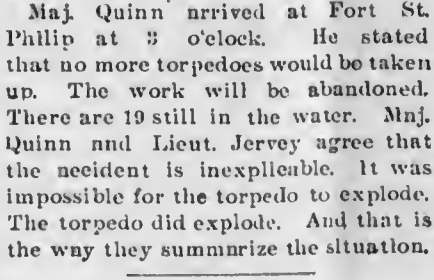

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 5.—A Fort St. Philip special to the Picayune says:

When the John R. Meigs had her forecable blown off there were six men hurled by the shock into the Mississippi river who never came to the surface. Three others were thrown into the river but were not so badly injured as to prevent their climbing back upon the boat. Contrary to the advice received Saturday night the Meigs did not sink immediately. Disabled as she was, she was carried by the tide and a stiff wind to the east bank where her stern grounded and her bow swung out and pointed down stream. Nearly everything of value had been recovered before she lurched off the bank on which her stern rested and plunged bow foremost into the deep water of the channel. The men hurled to death by the dynamite never saw the mine that exploded. The shock came when it was several feet beneath the surface.

The six men killed were: Capt. P. R. Starr, of Vicksburg; Sergt. John Newman, Willett's Point, N. Y.; Private Pat Carlow, from the same place; Fireman J. D. Malou; Ralph Rogers, colored; Harry Jackson, colored.

The wounded were D. B. Reddicks and Fritz Koel. They are here in the hospital. Pilot J. C. Davis was at the wheel at the time of the explosion and the flying fragments of the torpedo and the shattered steel deck tore the pilot house to pieces. Mr. Davis, however, escaped unhurt. Lieut. Henry Jervey was within a few feet of the pilot house and he too, was fortunate enough to escape unhurt. Night Watchman Frank Coape, asleep in his cabin on the boiler deck, was awakened by the explosion and found himself in a hole caused by the roof and his bed jammed against the wall by a piece of the steel deck. He climbed out through the hole. Lieut. Jervey and Pilot Harris were also on the boiler deck. D. B. Reddicks was blown into the river. A piece of steel went through his right forearm and another tore off a piece of his scalp. Engineer Layne was blown into the river and escaped injury. There were 19 people in the boat when the explosion occurred. The explosion occurred about eleven o'clock. It was noon when the Meigs sank. Her entire forecable was blown off and nothing but her water tight compartments prevented her immediate sinking.

A column of water was hurled 50 feet high into the air and debris blown several hundred feet high. Portions of the torpedo and steel deck fell on the bank in front of Fort St. Philip 1,500 feet from the scene of the wreck. Maj. Quinn arrived at Fort St. Philip at 3 o'clock. He stated that no more torpedoes would be taken up. The work will be abandoned. There are 19 still in the water. Maj. Quinn and Lieut. Jervey agree that the accident is inexplicable. It was impossible for the torpedo to explode. The torpedo did explode. And that is the way they summarize the situation.

CAPT. ALBERT S. BARKER. (The New Commander of the Great Battleship Oregon.)

Result of a Court Martial.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—Corporal Wm. I. Edington, Company K, 4th United States volunteer infantry, having been found guilty of a violation of the 21st, 22nd and 33rd articles of war by a court martial convened at Fredericksburg, Va., was sentenced to dishonorable discharge and confinement in prison for three years. The man will be sent to St. Francis barracks, St. Augustine, Fla., for confinement.

EIGHTEEN PEOPLE KILLED.

Ten Others Will Die as the Result of a Collision Between a Train and a Trolley Car.

CONOKS, N. Y., Sept. 6.—An appalling disaster occurred in this city. Shortly before 8 o'clock a trolley car of the Troy City Railroad Co. was struck by the night boat special of the Delaware & Hudson railroad at a crossing at the west end of the Hudson river bridge which connects this city with Lansingburg, and its load of human freight was hurled into the air. Eighteen of the 35 passengers are dead and at least ten of the remainder will die.

The cars entering the city from Lansingburg were crowded with passengers returning from a Labor day picnic at Rensselaer park, a pleasure resort near Troy. Car No. 192, of the Troy City railroad, was the victim of the disaster. It came over the bridge about 7:55 o'clock laden with a merry party of people fresh from the enjoyment of the day.

Four tracks of the Delaware and Hudson road which runs north and south at this point, cross the two tracks of the trolley road.

The tracks of the street line run at a grade from the bridge to the point where the disaster took place.

In consequence of this fact and of the frequent passage of trains it has been the rule for each motor car conductor to stop his car and go forward to observe the railroad tracks and signal his car to proceed if no trains were in sight. It can not be ascertained whether that rule was complied with on this occasion, for all events prior to the crash are forgotten by those who were involved.

The motor car was struck directly in the center by the engine of the train, which was going at a high rate of speed. The accident came without the slightest warning. The car was upon the tracks before the train loomed in sight and no power on earth could have saved it. The motorman evidently saw the train approaching as he reached the track and opened his controller, but in vain. With a crash that was heard for blocks the engine struck into the lighter vehicle. The effect was horrible. The motor car parted in two, both sections being hurled into the air in splinters. The mass of humanity, for the car was crowded to overflowing, was torn and mangled. Those in the front of the car met with the worst fate. The force of the collision was there experienced to the greatest degree and every human being in that section of the car was killed.

The scene was horrible. Bodies had been hurled into the air and their headless and limbless trunks were found in some cases 50 feet from the crossing.

The pilot of the engine was smashed and amid its wreckage were the maimed corpses of two women.

The passengers of the train suffered no injury in addition to a violent shock.

The majority of the passengers of the trolley car were young people. They included many women.

Within ten minutes after the collision fully one-half of the population of the city were stirring about the vicinity in an endeavor to ascertain if relatives were among the unfortunate.

The injured were taken to the city hospital and to the Continental knitting mill, the former not having sufficient ambulance service to care for them all.

The corpses were placed in boxes and taken to a neighboring mill shed. Many of them were unrecognizable. The crash was frightful in its results. Headless women with gay summer dresses bathed in their own and the blood of others; limbs without trunks or any means of identifying to whom they belonged; women's and men's heads with crushed and distorted features; bodies crushed and flattened—these sights constituted a spectacle most horrible to behold.

The train of the Delaware and Hudson road, immediately after the accident, proceeded to Troy. The engineer stated that he did not see the car until he was upon it. He tried to prevent his train from striking the car, but his efforts were fruitless. His train was going at a very high rate of speed at the time.

He was some minutes late and was trying to make up lost time. In consequence of the caution taken by the trolley road to ascertain if the tracks were clear at this crossing, the engineers of trains have always felt safe in running by at a high rate of speed. The engineer says that the first he knew that the car was coming was when it hove in sight at the corner of the street at which the crossing is situated. He was but a short distance from the car at the time. It was utterly impossible for him to bring his train to a standstill.

BURIED IN A STONE COFFIN.—

"Uncle" Stephen Langford, whose critical illness was noted in our last issue, passed peacefully away Thursday night at his home, near Clay's Ferry, aged 86. For some time his health had been gradually declining, and the end was not unexpected. He was tenderly nursed by his nephew, W. A. Langford, who was much devoted to him and to whom he left the bulk of his estate, valued at something like $60,000. Deceased was somewhat noted for his eccentricity. He began life as a stone mason and by industry and economy accumulated a comfortable fortune. He was an Ironside Baptist, an uncompromising Democrat and a living exemplification of an honest man. Some years ago, it is said he came across a grave burrowed into by ground hogs and the body violated. This so bore upon his mind that he was determined to protect his remains, and accordingly he had made for himself of Rockcastle stone, a mammoth coffin, which he had put away in his buggy house for use when the summons should come. At the same time he had a monument erected to himself on his place and left directions as to how he should be buried, which were scrupulously carried out by his nephew. A large crowd assembled Saturday to witness his strange burial. The ponderous sarcophagus, weighing 1,800 pounds and neatly dressed by Biggs & Orland, undertakers, of this city, was hauled to the grave on a slide, drawn on four big mules. It was lowered by means of an incline and rollers. Services were held at the house at 3 p. m. by Rev. G. W. Young, of the Methodist church, this city, after which the body was carried on a stretcher to the grave and placed in the coffin, which was not only hermetically sealed, but covered with large flag stones, thus inclosing the body in a double stone case, where it is safe to say it will rest undisturbed until the coming of the Master. He left no children, but a faithful and devoted wife to mourn his loss.

—(Ky. Register.)
The above deceased was born and raised a mile and one-half from town.

A Critical Time.

During the Battle of Santiago

Sick or Well, A Rush Night and Day.

The Packers at the Battle of Santiago de Cuba were all Heroes. Their Heroic Efforts in getting Ammunition and Rations to the Front Saved the day.

P. E. Butler, of pack-train No. 3, writing from Santiago, De Cuba, on July 23d, says: "We all had diarrhoea in more or less violent form, and when we landed we had no time to see a doctor, for it was a case of rush and rush night and day to keep the troops supplied with ammunition and rations, but thanks to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, we are able to keep at work and keep our health; in fact, I sincerely believe that at one critical time this medicine was the indirect saviour of our army, for if the packers had not been able to work there would have been no way of getting supplies to the front. There were no roads that a wagon train could use. My comrade and myself had the good fortune to lay in a supply of this medicine for our pack-train before we left Tampa, and I know in four cases it absolutely saved life."

The above letter was written to the manufacturers of this medicine, the Chamberlain Medicine Co., Des Moines, Iowa. For sale by M. C. & D. N. Williams, Mt. Vernon, Ky.

THE NEW WAY.

WOMEN used to think "female diseases" could only be treated after "local examinations" by physicians. Dread of such treatment kept thousands of modest women silent about their suffering. The introduction of Wine of Cardui has now demonstrated that nine-tenths of all the cases of menstrual disorders do not require a physician's attention at all. The simple, pure taken in the privacy of a woman's own home insures quick relief and speedy cure. Women need not hesitate now. Wine of Cardui requires no humiliating examinations for its adoption. It cures any disease that comes under the head of "female troubles"—disordered menses, falling of the womb, "whites," change of life, it makes women beautiful by making them well. It keeps them young by keeping them healthy. $1.00 at the drug store.

PAYAGAYZ, Porto Rico, Aug. 11 '98 on board the Hudson.

We did not land at Porto Rico as I wrote you last week we would. We received orders to proceed to this point and take it. We arrived here on the 13h, and met with no resistance from the Spaniards. The surrender was complete. This place has about 15,000 inhabitants. The buildings are all of ancient design, and none over two story. Apparently, there is considerable wealth here. The Porto Ricans cannot speak English, and as a class, they are extremely neat and clean. An American negro would be ashamed of himself if he could see the neatness of the negro here. I suppose they are well educated in their language. We slept on the dock last night. This afternoon we will move out about 3 miles in the country and go into camp for the night, and to-morrow start to San Juan sixty miles away. I am in fine health. Plenty of fruit, such as bananas, mangos, Coconuts, &c. Here in this city are some of the largest palms I ever saw, some are 75 feet high and 2 feet through. I forgot to mention one thing that I know will be of interest to Bill Dillion in getting his saw logs together: The Porto Ricans use the ox for hauling; they use the yoke but no bows; they tie the yoke to horns and the yoke rests just back of the horns. The climate here differs but little from ours; it is hotter but you don't feel it much. The children here play in the streets naked until of considerable age. M. F. BRINKLEY.

Above we give an imprint from a brass wax seal found some nine years ago on the old camp ground near this place which was used by both Federals and Confederates during the war. How this piece of Virginia Court furniture came there is a mystery which this paper is now attempting to solve.

THE MINISTER GOT MIXED.
And Rang Several Changes on a Scriptural Sentence Before He Got It Right.

The minister had reached the critical point in his "missionary" sermon. He had finished his first and second, and with one more figure would link them to an impassioned appeal that would strike his congregation's hearts, and make their rocks flow like water.

"If," he exclaimed, "it has truly been said that he who makes two blades of brass to grow where one—"

The puzzled look on the face of a deaf old member in a front pew led him to pause and repeat:

"That he is a benefactor who makes two blades of brass—"

Smiles throughout the house and his own sense showed him there was something wrong, but, with an attempt at lightness, he said, airily:

"As I meant, two blades of brass."

The choir was now keen-eyed, and the pastor felt as if he had met Dewey. So he shouted: "Two blades of brass!"

Then the senior deacon had pity on him and arose. "My brethren," he spoke, "our pastor has been upset by the intensity of his emotions, and has tripped on two blades of brass."—San Francisco Examiner.

BECOMING AMERICANIZED.
Several Labor Strikes at Manila, the Demand Being for Excessive Wages—New Tariff Not Yet in Force.

MASILA, Philippine Islands, Sept. 6.—There have been several labor strikes here, the demand being for excessive wages. Because the American authorities, in the early exigencies of the situation here, agreed to the extravagant demands of laborers, it has been difficult to return to an equitable basis. One of these strikes caused the suspension of traffic on the tramways of Manila for three days.

Copies of the new tariff have been circulated here but it has not yet been enforced, pending the receipt of instructions from Washington. It is understood that under the American tariff there will be an average reduction of one-third as compared with that of Spain.

GEN. MORGAN'S REVOLVER.
It is on Exhibition at the Meeting of the Blue and Gray in the Chamber of Commerce, Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 6.—The revolver which Gen. John H. Morgan, the famous ex-confederate raider, used all during the war will be on exhibition in the assembly hall of the chamber of commerce Wednesday. The weapon is in the possession of Capt. Steve Sharp, of Lexington. It is a self-loading, 45 caliber, 8-inch barrel gun, and was presented to Gen. Morgan by his friend and class mate, Francis Key Hunt, in 1854. Gen. Morgan was then captain of the Lexington rifles. On the handle of the weapon is a silver inscription plate set around with rubies.

A Hurricane at St. Joseph, Mo.
St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 6.—A hurricane swept over St. Joseph at 5:30 o'clock Monday afternoon. Rain and hail accompanied the wind. Residences were unroofed, stacks and barns were torn down and many buildings were utterly demolished. The St. Joseph rolling mills were wrecked, damage $10,000; Carey's saloon, five other houses and a field full of tents in the packing house district were destroyed.

HEROES OF WAR.
From the Chicago Times-Herald.

The feeling of admiration for heroes of war seems to be innate in the human heart, and is brought to the surface as the opportunity and object presents itself.

Among those who proved their heroism during our Civil War was A. Schiffendener, of 161 Sedgwick Street, Chicago. He is an Austrian by birth, at the age of twenty, and became an American citizen. He was living at Milwaukee when the call for volunteers came early in 1862, and promptly enlisted in Company A, of the Twenty-sixth Wisconsin Volunteers. In the Army of the Potomac he saw much fighting, campaigning in the Shenandoah Valley. In the first day's fighting at the battle of Gettysburg, Schiffendener received a wound in the right side, which afterward caused him much trouble. With a portion of his regiment he was captured and imprisoned at Hell Island and Andersonville, and afterward exchanged. He returned to his regiment, which was transferred to the army of General Sherman, and marched with him through Georgia to the sea.

In this campaign Mr. Schiffendener's old wound began to trouble him and he was sent to the hospital and then home. He had also contracted catarrh of the stomach and food no longer gave him any pleasure.

"I happened to read an account of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People about a year ago," he said, "and thought that they might be good for my trouble. I concluded to try them. I bought one box and began to take them according to directions. They gave me great relief. After finishing that box I bought another, and when I had taken the pills I felt that I was cured. I recovered my appetite and ate heartily. I can testify to the good the pills did me."

Mr. Schiffendener is a prominent Grand Army man in Chicago, whither he moved some years ago with his family.

THOSE CHARITY PARTIES.
The Head of the House Had His Say and Then Paid for His Fun.

The two fair daughters of the household were discussing the entertainment they proposed giving for the benefit of a little work of charity in which they were interested, and, as a matter of course, the old gentleman had to have his say.

"The house will be in a commotion for a week, nothing will be thought of but your party, and everything will be disarranged. That night we will all be awake till well toward morning, and the next day, those who are not sick will go about snoring and half asleep. I call it nothing but tomfoolery."

"Papa," said the eldest, "don't you understand that we are going to help some of the poor and that every cent we make will provide them with some comfort? What you should do is to encourage us."

"Don't talk silly. It's a good deal you girls care about the charitable feature of this social combination you're in. It's the boys and girls and cards and dancing you want. No use trying to pull the wool over my eyes."

"Very well. We'll try to do our duty, even if you do make it hard. We, at least, have some sympathy for the afflicted."

"Oh, you have? Sweetly, disinterested, aren't you? How much did you take in at the last blowout?"

"Just $13.50," proudly.

"Well, I'll give you just $30.50 for the cause if you'll not inflict your coworkers on us. Now, how's your charity?"

"Mamma, I wish to the land you'd come down here. Papa's acting perfectly awful, and she flounced out of the room while he laughed sardonically.—Detroit Free Press.

The War Is Over
And now our thoughts are all of peace and home. There are, too often, people to be found who have no home, and it is to them these few words are addressed. If you really want a home you can easily get one, but you should act at once before the release from the war puts prices on the advance. In Marinette County, Wisconsin, the very finest farming land is to be had now at a most modest figure. Excellent home markets are at hand to take whatever the farmer raises, and good prices are given. These lands are on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, and full information concerning them will cheerfully be furnished by C. E. Rollins, Immigration Agent, 161 La Salle Street, Chicago.
